

THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION DID NOT GIVE LEGALLY- REQUIRED PRIOR NOTIFICATION TO CONGRESS

If the torture program began—as Michael Hayden has said—as a covert op, then it would require Bush to have notified Congress of the plan to torture before it happened. That did not happen. In fact, even according to reports from the CIA, it appears the CIA did not have its presidential finding until a year after the torture started.