(U) COMES NOW the United States of America, by and through its counsel, Laura E. Duffy, United States Attorney, and William P. Cole and Caroline P. Han, Assistant U.S. Attorneys, and Steven P. Ward, Trial Attorney, Department of Justice, National Security Division, Counterterrorism Section, and hereby files its Response and Opposition to Defendants' Joint Motion for a New Trial.

I. (U) INTRODUCTION

(U) Defendants move for a new trial, asserting that this Court 9 should revisit its prior rulings regarding the United States' use 10 of electronic surveillance and physical search pursuant to the 11 Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) and discovery Foreign 12 determinations made pursuant to Classified Information the 13 14 Procedures Act (CIPA) Section 4, and Fed. R. Crim. P. 16, based in 15 revelation of formerly classified facts public the part on 16	regarding this investigation.

17	(U) Defendants speculate that Government programs under 18
19	Section 215 of the USA PATRIOT Act and acquisition of foreign
20	intelligence information through the targeting of non-United States
21	persons reasonably believed to be located outside the United States
22	pursuant to Section 702 of FISA were illegally used in their
23	prosecutions. They renew their previous motions for disclosure of
24	sensitive and highly classified FISA applications, orders, and
25	related materials; disclosure of the ex parte CIPA Motions; and to
26	reraced materiars, discressive of the ch purce of motions, and to
27	suppress the FISA information as fruit of the poisonous tree.

Further, they move for discovery of Rule 16 and Brady information they mistakenly assert the United States withheld.

(U) The Court has already carefully considered the propriety 3 of the Government's use of FISA information in the case and denied 4 5 defendants' motions for disclosure of the underlying FISA 6 applications, orders and related materials. The facts disclosed 7 since the Court's decisions do not alter the conclusion that the 8 Government's use of FISA was proper, under the Fourth Amendment and 9 FISA, and that the United States properly discharged its discovery 10 obligations. The Motion for New Trial, including the request for 11 disclosure of FISA materials and the United States' classified ex 12 13 parte CIPA motions, should be denied. 14 II. (U) BACKGROUND 15 A. (U) The FISA Suppression Litigation

16	(U) Defendants Basaaly Moalin, Mohamed Mohamud, and Issa Doreh
17	were indicted on October 22, 2010. On November 4, 2010, the United

21	Dkt. 12]. On January 14, 2011, the grand jury returned a
22	Superseding Indictment adding defendant Ahmed Nasir. [See Dkt.

24	Intent to Use Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act Information
25	(Supplemental) as to all defendants. [Dkt. 119].

(U) On December 12, 2011, the defendants filed their Motion to 1 Suppress the Wiretap Evidence, seeking to suppress all the 2 telephone conversations intercepted pursuant to FISA, and seeking 3 disclosure of the underlying FISA applications and orders. [See 4 5 Dkt. 92 ("Motion to Suppress FISA Information")]. That Motion 6 challenged both the Government's use of electronic surveillance 7 pursuant to 50 U.S.C. 1806 (Title I of FISA) and collection 8 conducted pursuant to Section 702 of the FISA Amendments Act of 9 2008 (FAA). Id. On February 23, 2012, the United States filed its 10 classified response to the Motion to Suppress FISA Information, ex 11 parte and under seal pursuant to 50 U.S.C. 1806(f). [See Dkt. 12 The Court denied the Motion to Suppress FISA Information on 13 128]. 14 June 4, 2012. [Dkt. 146]. 15 B.(U) The CIPA Litigation 16

	(U) On March 9, 2012, the defendants filed their preemptive
17	Joint Motion to Deny the United States' Request to File Ex Parte
18	l a l Di lesses a CIDD Castina (Deslie d'Isotica (Dist. 122)
19	and Compel Disclosure of CIPA Section 4 Application. [Dkt. 132].
20	On March 23, 2012, the United States filed its unclassified
21	response to this challenge to the \underline{ex} parte proceedings under CIPA
22	Section 4. [Dkt. 138]. Subsequently, the Court considered each of
23	the United States' five Motions for Protective Orders pursuant to
24	CIPA Section 4, ex parte, in camera and under seal. On August 28,
25	2012, the Court entered a Protective Order granting three of the

• June 1, 2012, and August 22, 2012. [Dkt. 183]. The Court 1 subsequently granted two additional CIPA Section 4 Motions -- dated 2 January 2, 2013 and January 17, 2013 -- and entered a Protective 3 Order dated January 17, 2013. [Dkt. 253]. 4 5 C. (U) Recent Events 6 (U) After the Court's decisions upholding the propriety of the 7 United States' use of FISA information in the prosecution of these

8 defendants, and the Court's Orders granting Protective Orders for 9 the classified information that was the subject of each of the CIPA 10 Section 4 motions, additional details about the investigation that 11 resulted in this prosecution were publicly revealed. The 12 disclosures originated in connection with the June 18, 2013 Hearing 13 14 before the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence (HPSCI) 15 on the subject: "How Disclosed NSA Programs Protect Americans, and 16

d. After receiving the lead with the San Diego telephone number, the FBI was able to tie the phone number to Basaaly Moalin, reopen the Moalin investigation, and eventually obtain authorization to conduct electronic surveillance and physical search pursuant to FISA, which produced evidence used at trial against the defendants in February 2013.⁴ (U) Based on these facts, the defendants have moved for a new trial, contending that the use of Section 215 information invalidates the Court's prior determinations approving the United States' use of FISA information in this case. They also challenge any NSA electronic surveillance, attacking "the NSA interception 10 and/or collection of Mr. Moalin's communications [as a] violat[ion

11 of] his Fourth and First Amendment rights, . . . the Foreign 12 Intelligence Surveillance Act ("FISA"), or any other statutory 13 authority upon which such interception/collection was purportedly 14 based."⁵ 15

16 Joyce explained: "We were able to reopen this (U) DD 17 || investigation, identify additional individuals through a legal process, and were able to disrupt this terrorist activity." Id. at Later, he stated: 18 9.

С	III. (U) THE UNITED STATES' COLLECTION OF TELEPHONY METADATA DID NOT VIOLATE MOALIN'S - OR ANY OTHER DEFENDANTS' -
6	FOURTH AMENDMENT RIGHTS
7	(U) Moalin contends that the United States' collection of his
8	telephony metadata under Section 215 violated his Fourth Amendment
9	rights. For several reasons, his contention lacks any merit.
10	(U) First, an order requiring production of tangible things
11
12	pursuant to Section 215 requires an entity, to include a telephone
13	service provider, to produce records, papers, documents, and other
14	items that are relevant to an authorized investigation. A Section
15	215 order does not permit the United States to listen to, or
16	record the contents of any telephone conversation. Rather, the

10	record, the contents of any telephone conversation. Rather, the
17	particular type of order about which the defense complains required
18	a third-party provider to produce telephone records containing
19 20	information such as the numbers dialed and the length of calls.
21	See , e.g. , Def. Ex. 2 at 3, 5, 6, and 10. [Dkt. 345-3].
22	(U) Telephone users — including Moalin — have no reasonable
23	expectation of privacy in telephony metadata. In Smith v.
24	Maryland, 442 U.S. 735 (1979), the Supreme Court held that the
25	government's recording of numbers dialed from an individual's home
26	telephone, through a pen register installed at the telephone
27 28	company's central offices, did not constitute a search of that individual under the Fourth Amendment, because persons making 1 telephone calls, even from their own homes, lack a reasonable 2 expectation of privacy in the numbers they call. 442 U.S. at 741-3 Unlike the contents of telephone calls, the Court held there 46. 4 5 is no reasonable expectation of privacy in the telephone numbers 6 dialed, because telephone users "typically know that they must 7 convey numerical information to the phone company; that the phone 8 company has facilities for recording this information; and that the 9 phone company does in fact record this information for a variety of 10 legitimate business purposes." Id. at 743. The Court observed 11 that someone who uses a phone has "voluntarily conveyed numerical 12 13 information to the telephone company and 'exposed' that information 14 to its equipment in the ordinary course of business," and therefore 15 has "assumed the risk that the company would reveal to police the numbers he dialed." Id. at 744; accord United States v. Reed
28	· 11

17 F.3d 900, 914 (9th Cir. 2009)(because data about the 18	call
19 origination, length, and time of call is nothing more that	n pen
20 register and trap and trace data, there is no Fourth Amer	dment
21 expectation of privacy).
22 (U) Second, as defendants concede, the United States obt	ained
23 Moalin's telephone records from a third-party service provider	, not
24 from Moalin. The Supreme Court "has repeatedly held that	the
25 Fourth Amendment does not prohibit the obtaining of inform	ation
26 revealed to a third party and conveyed by him to United S	tates
27 28

authorities, even if the information is revealed on the assumption 1 that it will be used only for a limited purpose and the confidence 2 placed in the third party will not be betrayed." United States v. 3 Miller, 425 U.S. 435, 443 (1976); see also United States v. Golden 4 5 Valley Electric Association, 689 F.3d 1108, 1116 (9th Cir. 6 2012) (holding that a customer has no Fourth Amendment interest in 7 energy consumption records obtained by subpoena from the power 8 company, and that a "customer ordinarily lacks 'a reasonable 9 expectation of privacy in an item,' like a business record, 'in 10 which he has no possessory or ownership interest'")(citation 11 omitted). 12 Smith and Miller, courts have repeatedly 13 Following (U) 14 rejected Fourth Amendment challenges directed at the government's 15 collection of telephony metadata or, analogously, Internet protocol

LEXIS 3 22283, at *15 (S.D. Ca. Mar. 20, 2008) (finding that the defendant 4 5 had no Fourth Amendment interest in her IP log-in histories and 6 addressing information).⁷ and the second secon 7 (U) Third, Moalin lacks standing to assert the interests of 8 any service provider, or the interests of other persons whose 9 telephony metadata may have been collected along with his own, 10 regardless of the collection's scope. Fourth Amendment rights are 11

12 "personal in nature, and cannot bestow vicarious protection on 13 those who do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the 14 place to be searched." Steagald v. United States, 451 U.S. 204, 15 219 (1981); accord Minnesota v. Carter, 525 U.S. 83, 88 (1998)(a

16	person claiming Fourth Amendment protection "must demonstrate that
17 18	he personally has an expectation of privacy in the place
19	searched"). Accordingly, "a court may not exclude evidence under
20	the Fourth Amendment unless it finds that an unlawful search or
21	seizure violated the defendant's own constitutional rights."
22	United States v. Payner , 447 U.S. 727, 731-32 (1980); see also In
23	re Grand Jury Proceedings, 827 F.2d 301, 305 (8th Cir.
24
25	⁷ (U) Even before the Supreme Court's decision in Smith v. Maryland, the Ninth Circuit had rejected the notion that release of
26	telephone toll records constitutes a Fourth Amendment search. See United States v. Baxter, 492 F.2d 150, 167 (9th Cir. 1973); United
27	States v. Fithian , 452 F.2d 505, 506 (9th Cir. 1971).

Rigmaiden, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 65633, at *38 (D. 4 5 Ariz. May 8, 2013) (United States did not violate defendant's 6 Fourth Amendment rights by acquiring 1.8 million IP addresses from 7 Verizon); Li, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS, at *17 (because the court 8 concluded that the defendant lacked any reasonable expectation of 9 privacy in the evidence obtained from the third-party service 10 provider, "the court also finds that defendant does not have 11 standing to seek suppression of the evidence"). Therefore, neither 12 Moalin nor his co-defendants have standing to challenge the United 13 14 States' collection of the telephony metadata from the service 15 provider, regardless of the collection's expanse. 1	(U) The FISC's August 29th Memorandum Opinion - granting the
2	government's application for bulk collection of telephony metadata
3	under Section 215 in the wake of the public revelations regarding
4	the scope of this program - is on point. See id. at 5. The court
5	found that a Section 215 order for telephony metadata does not
6	implicate the Fourth Amendment. Id . It stated:
7	[B]ecause the Application at issue here concerns only the (U) The same applies here. Defendants have failed to assert -1 much less establish - any cognizable Fourth Amendment claim arising 2 from the United States' collection of telephony metadata.9 3 IV. (U) THERE IS NO SUPPRESSION REMEDY FOR ANY ALLEGED STATUTORY 4 VIOLATION OF SECTION 215 5 (U) Beyond raising their constitutional challenge to the 6 Section 215 collection, defendants make only the most passing 7 references to alleged "statutory" violations. See, e.g., Def. 8 Memo. at p.11 (alleging, in the heading, that the collection 9 10 violated "other claimed statutory authority"). But defendants 11 never identify any statute allegedly violated by the telephony 12 metadata collection, much less explain how they would be entitled 13 to any remedy for a statutory violation. 14 (U) Assuming that defendants are claiming that the metadata 15 collection violated Section 215; this claim is without merit. The 16	Correction viorated becton 215, this train is without merre. The Application of the FBI, 2013 WL 5307991, at 12-13. But this Court 1 need not even reach that issue here. Even if the United States had 2 committed a statutory violation of Section 215, and it has not, 3 there is no suppression remedy for such a violation. 4 5 (U) Suppression of evidence is "a disfavored remedy" that is 6 generally unavailable for non-constitutional violations unless such 7 remedy "is clearly contemplated by the relevant statute." а 8 Forrester, 512 F.3d at 512; accord Sanchez-Llamas v. Oregon, 548 9 U.S. 331, 348 (2006) (suppression available only for constitutional 10 violations and statutory violations "that implicate[] important 11 12 Fourth and Fifth Amendment interests").

(U) FISA's text makes clear that Congress did not contemplate
14 a suppression remedy for a violation of Section 215. Section 215
15 is codified within Title V of FISA, which is one of five FISA

16	titles that provide information gathering tools for use in foreign
17 18	intelligence investigations. In four of these titles (Titles I,
19	III, IV, and VII), Congress provided that a criminal defendant is
20	entitled to notice and an opportunity to move for suppression. See
21	50 U.S.C. §§ 1806(e), 1825(f), 1845(e), 1881e. In Title V,
22	however, Congress elected not to provide for notice or for a
23	suppression remedy. See 50 U.S.C. § 1861. Given that Congress has
24	clearly provided for a suppression remedy for certain FISA Titles
25	while withholding such a remedy for Section 215 violations, a court
26 27	"would encroach upon the prerogatives of Congress were [it] to 28

1	authorize a remedy not provided for by statute." Forrester, 512
2	F.3d at 512 (internal quotation marks omitted) (declining to find a
3	suppression remedy for violation of pen register statute); see also
4	Smith, 442 U.S. 735 (no suppression remedy for violation of pen
5	register statute); United States v. Donovan, 429 U.S. 413, 432 n.22
6	(1977) (no suppression remedy for violation of wiretapping
7 8	statute).
8 9	(U) Because there is no suppression remedy for a violation of
10	Section 215, defendants' statutory challenge is without merit.
11	V. (U) THE DEFENDANTS' CHALLENGE TO ANY PURPORTED INTERCEPTION OF MOALIN'S COMMUNICATIONS UNDER SECTION 702 OF FISA IS
12	WITHOUT MERIT
13	(U) Defendants contend that the U.S. Government's "likely"
14	interception of Moalin's communications under the FAA of 2008
15	(Section 702) violated the Fourth and First Amendments. This claim
16	is similarly meritless and cannot support granting a new trial.
17	(U) As required by 50 U.S.C. § $1806(c)$ and $1825(d)$, the United
18 19	States notified the defense and this Court that it intended to use
20	against Moalin and his co-defendants in its prosecution evidence
21	obtained or derived from electronic surveillance and physical
22	search under Titles I and III of FISA, 50 U.S.C. §§ 1801-1812 and
23	1821-1829. The United States did not enter into evidence or
24	otherwise use or disclose in the course of the prosecution of
25	Moalin or his co-defendants any FAA-obtained or -derived foreign
26	intelligence collection as to which Moalin or his co-defendants
27 28	were aggrieved persons under FISA. The government's notice and the second second obligations regarding its use of FISA information under $$ 1806 (electronic surveillance under Title I of FISA), 1825 (physical 2 search under Title III of FISA), and 1881e (acquisition of foreign 3 intelligence information through the targeting of non-United States 4 5 persons reasonably believed to be located outside the United States 6 pursuant to Section 702 of FISA) apply only if the government: (1) 7 "intends to enter into evidence or otherwise use or disclose" (2) 8 "against an aggrieved person" (3) in a "trial, hearing or other 9 proceeding in or before any court, department, officer, agency, 10 regulatory body, or other authority of the United States" (4) any 11 "information obtained or derived from" (5) an "electronic 12 surveillance [or physical search] of that aggrieved person." See 13 14 50 U.S.C. §§ 1806(c), 1825(d) and 1881e. Thus, even if any of 15 defendants' communications were acquired pursuant to Section 702 of 16

Case 3:10-cr-04246-JM Document 355 Filed 09/30/13 Page 21 of 33

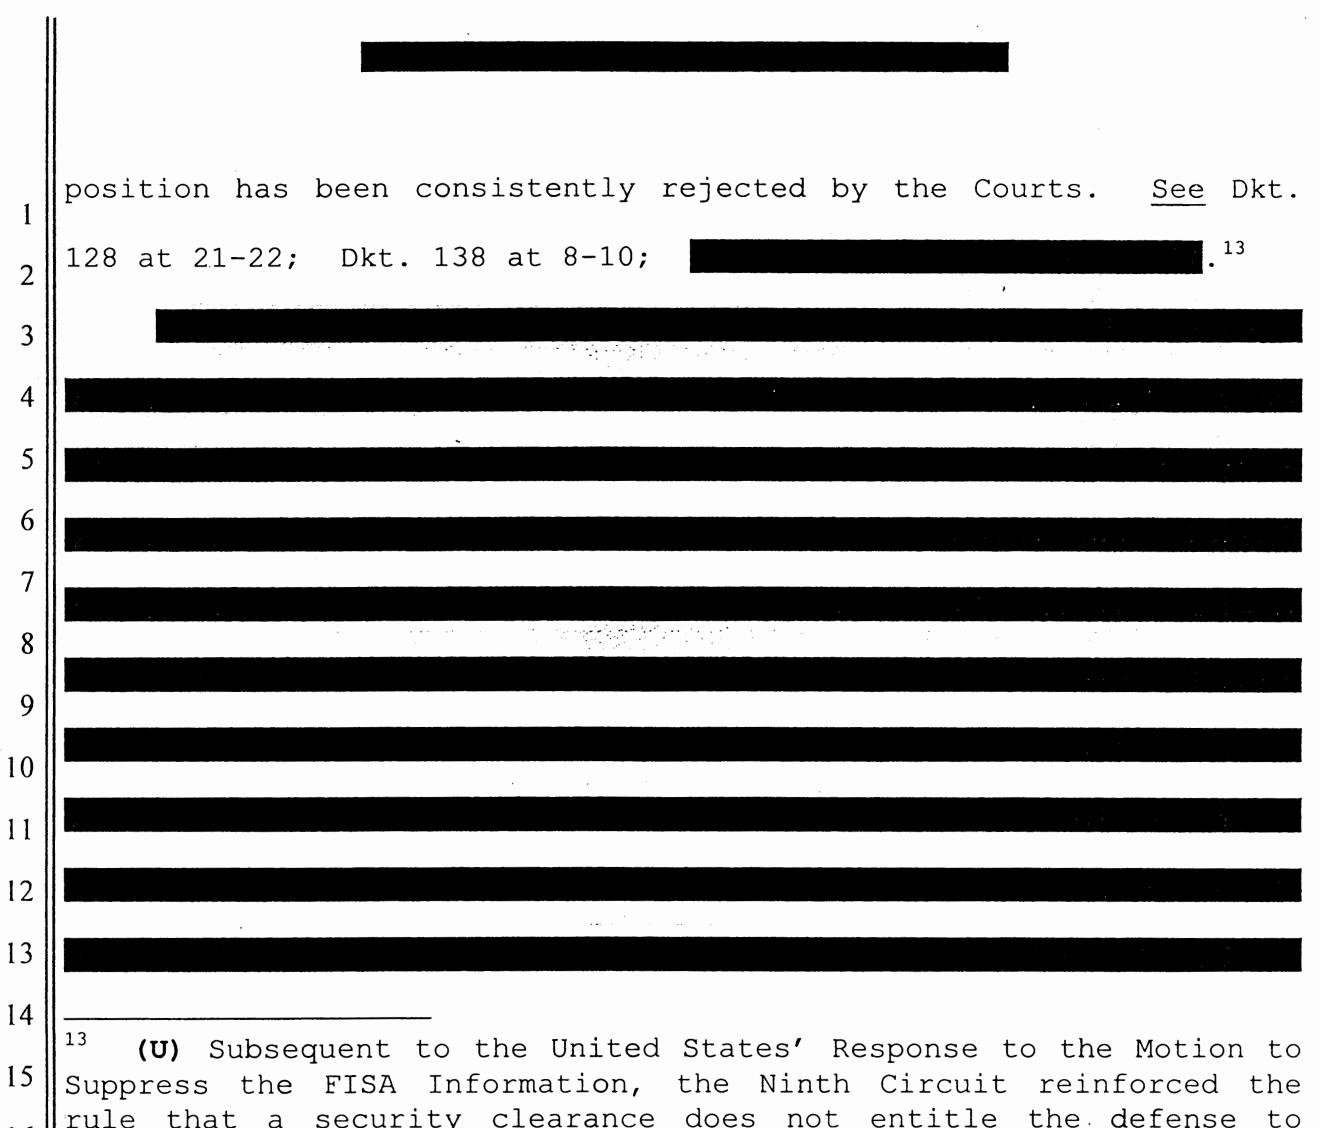

15 16 necessary to make an accurate determination of the legality of the 17 (U) This also dispenses with defendants' complaint that they 11 18 were not provided the proper notice so that they could challenge 19 FAA authorized surveillance, because the notice requirement does not arise unless and until the Government plans to use such 20 material against an aggrieved party. See 50 U.S.C. §§ 1806(c), 1881e(a). 21 (U) Similarly, the defendants' First Amendment claim lacks 12 22 The defendants incorporate by reference the plaintiffs' merit. 23 pleadings in Amnesty Intern.~~USA v. McConnell, 08-CV-6259 (JGK) (Def. Memo. 11), adopting the arguments that the FAA has a chilling 24 effect on their speech. The defendants lack standing just like the plaintiffs in Clapper v. surveillance." See Dkt. 128 at 17 (citing 50 U.S.C. § 1806 (f)). 1 Further, "[i]f the court determines that the surveillance was 2 lawfully authorized and conducted, it shall deny the motion of the 3 aggrieved person except to the extent that due process requires 4 5 discovery or disclosure." See id. at 18 (citing 50 U.S.C. § 6 1806(g)).7 In national security matters, need to know is the (U) 8 benchmark by which disclosure is measured. See Response to Joint 9 Motion to Deny Government's request to File Ex Parte and Compel 10 Disclosure of CIPA Section 4 Application [Dkt. 138], at 8-10 (mere 11 fact that counsel is cleared does not entitle them to disclosure of 12 classified information unless they have a need to know); Response 13 14 to Motion to Suppress FISA Information [Dkt. 128], at 21-22 (same). 15 In this context, defendants do not have a need to know unless, 16

17	after an ex parte , in camera review, the Court determines there is
18	an issue with legality of the FISA that it cannot determine without
18	the assistance of the defendants. See id . Other than to claim
20	that the U.S. Government has declassified certain previously
20	classified information, defendants do not suggest (nor is there any) basis that creates a need to know, other than their position,
22
23	which they have adhered to from the start, that all classified
24	litigation should be in an adversarial proceeding. However, that

17	Sedaghaty , F.3d, 2013 WL 4490922 (9 th Cir. August 23, 2013), the Ninth Circuit rejected the argument that a security clearance
18	entitled defense counsel to access to classified filing under CIPA.
19	It stated:
20	[T]he simple fact that defense counsel held security clearances does not mean that the attorneys were
21	entitled to access the government's classified filings. See United States v. El-Mezain, 664 F.3d
22	467, 568 (5 th Cir. 2011) (approving, in the context of
23	the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, denial of discovery to cleared defense counsel because of the 24	government's substantial interest in maintaining secrecy).
25	Id. at 25. See also United States v. Ott, 870 F.2d 473, 476-77
26	(9th Cir. 1987) (a defendant's due process right to disclosure of 27	FISA materials does not turn on the security clearance of his counsel).

VII. (U) DEFENDANTS' DISCOVERY CLAIMS LACK MERIT

(U) The Defendants Do Not Establish Any Rule 16 Violation Α. 2 Defendants apparently contend that the collection of (U) 3 Moalin's telephony metadata and the alleged interception of his 4 5 communications created discovery obligations under Rule 16 which 6 the United States ignored. However, the United States fully 7 complied with Rule 16. Defendant Moalin's position that the 8 telephony metadata was seized from him and is therefore 9 discoverable under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E)(iii); Def. Memo. at 10 33; is unsupported in fact or law. As the forgoing discussion 11 demonstrates, the telephony metadata was not seized from defendant 12 13 Moalin. Rather, it was produced by the relevant telecommunications 14 providers in response to an Order from the FISC. See supra at 11; 15 In re Application of the FBI, 2013 WL 5307991, at 2-3. Moreover,

1 are aggrieved under FISA was used in the course of this 2 prosecution. Further, the United States is aware of and complied 3 with its discovery obligations in this prosecution.

B. (U) The Defendants Do Not Establish Any Brady Violations 4 (U) Defendants also assert that several other items constitute 5 6 Brady material. A Brady violation occurs only if favorable 7 exculpatory or impeaching evidence is withheld from the defendant, 8 and the evidence is material to the defendant's guilt or innocence. 9 Sedaghaty, 2013 WL 4490922, at *9. As explained below, the 10 defendants' claims have no merit. 11

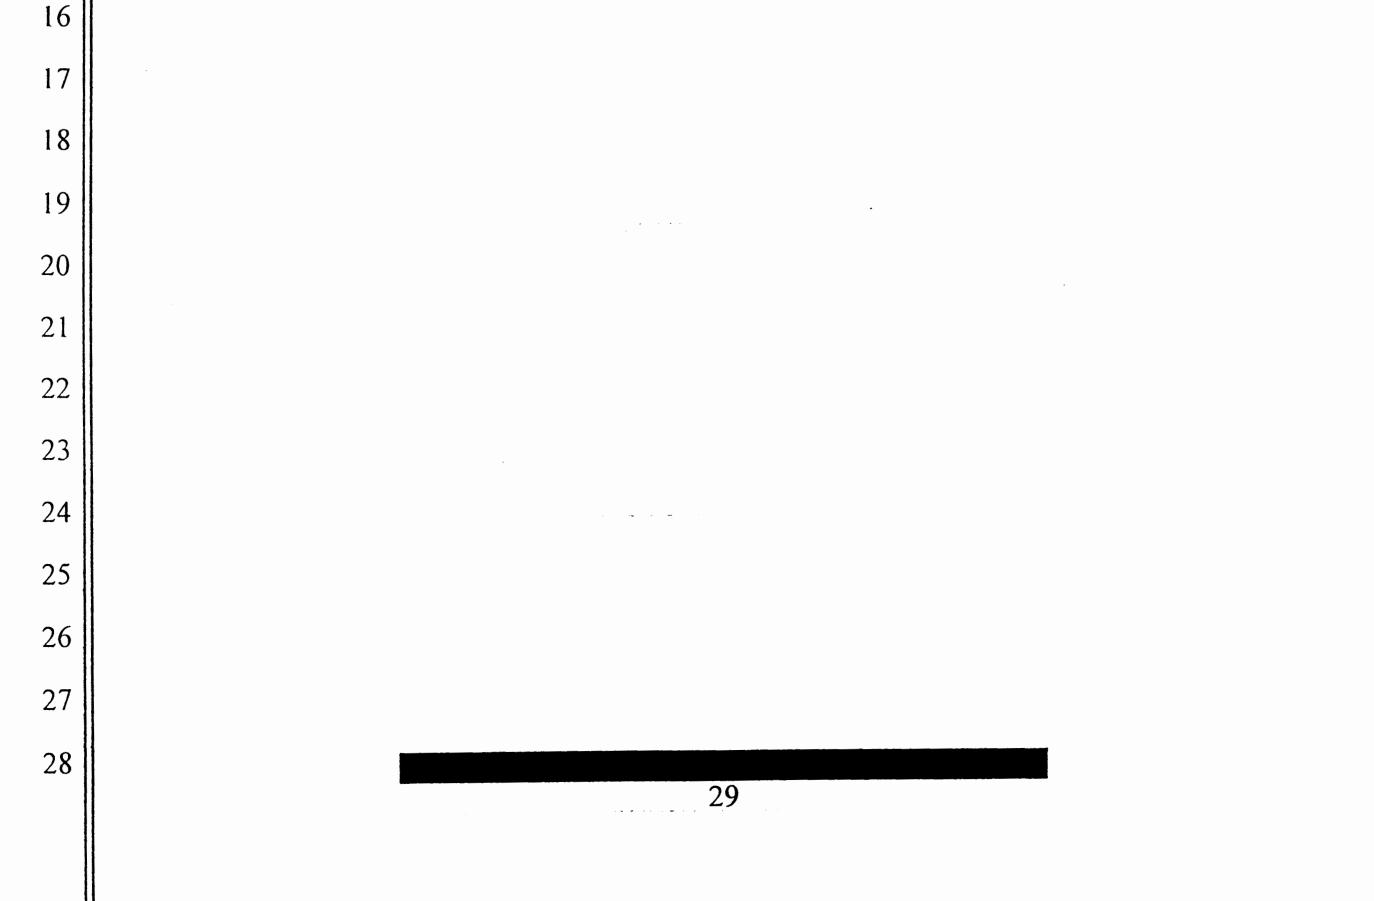

12	i. (U) Prior investigation of defendant Moalin

ii. (U) Alleged earlier investigation of Ahmed Nasir 1 (U) Defendants also argue that statements made in defendant 2 Nasir's presentence report suggest that the United States has 3 withheld Brady material. Specifically, they argue that the United 4 5 States may have withheld exculpatory information from an alleged 6 prior Anaheim investigation. In fact, there was only one FBI 7 investigation of Nasir, an investigation that began in Anaheim 8 (where Nasir lived), but was later transferred to the San Diego 9 Any statement suggesting otherwise in the presentence report FBI. 10 merely reflects a miscommunication between the case agent and the 11 Probation Officer. 12 iii. (U) January 24th email 13 14 The defendants argue that the United States failed to (U) 15 provide them with Rule 16 discovery because a January 24, 2008

· · · · . . The toll records reflect that on January 24, 2008, two calls of 1 seconds in duration were made from a Somali number ending in -9957 2 to defendant Moalin's phone. See Ex. 1 (attached hereto). On 3 January 20 and 24 and February 2, 3, and 14, defendant Moalin spoke 4 5 with Ayrow, who was then using the number ending in -9957. In 6 short, defendants fail to establish that the United States withheld 7 any Rule 16 or Brady discovery pertaining to the January 24, 2008 8 email. 9 10 11 12 13 14 a a the second 15

(U) CONCLUSION VIII. l each of the foregoing reasons, the Court's (U) For 2 determinations upholding the United States' use of the FISA 3 information and conducting ex parte proceedings in litigation 4 5 involving both the FISA information and the CIPA Protective Orders, 6 were proper and remain so. Further, the United States fully 7 discharged its discovery obligations. Defendants have not advanced 8 any basis for a new trial; thus, their motion should be denied. 9 Dated: September 30, 2013 10 Respectfully submitted, 11 LAURA E. DUFFY 12 United States Attorney 13 /s/ William P. Cole By: WILLIAM P. COLE 14 CAROLINE P. HAN Assistant United States Attorneys 15 /s/ Steven P. Ward
