

GET YOUR TORTURE TEAM TRADING CARDS

I said in my last post that I was going to do a post dedicated to pitching the Center for Constitutional Right's new Torture Team trading cards [link fixed]. And here's that post—showing off what the cards look like.

As I said in the comments to the last thread, CCR has played a critical role in protecting the Constitution over the last eight years—they were the first organization to file a habeas petition for one of the Gitmo detainees. So while you can get a small batch of these cards for free, if you can afford it, please consider paying for the complete set. (CCR originally wasn't going to charge for these at all, but when they unveiled them at the torture panel I did with Jerry Nadler at Netroots Nation, we all thought they should charge money.)
