

GEEZER RETURNS: SPECIAL OLD FART TRASH

In case you have not heard, some guy who last week was not a starting quarterback will suddenly start for the Minnesota Vikings tonight on Monday Night Football against the Chicago Bears. Who knows what this untested and unknown quarterback can bring to the game, time will tell. He will have to do it without Adrian Peterson. He apparently has completed his first pass. what will the rest of his career portend??