

OBAMA/BUSH DOJ UPDATE TO OLC CHRISTMAS CAROL

Earlier I linked to and posted the oh so hilarious (if you appreciate the humor in the supposed creme de la creme of government attorneys laughing about breaking the law and violating citizens' rights) Christmas carol drafted by the DOJ's Office of Legal Counsel (OLC) all the way back during the Carter Administration. It seems to be making a comeback through a post at Volokh Conspiracy.

Well, through what can only be described as a Christmas miracle, our very own Mary has "discovered" the new version, as updated by the Obama/Bush OLC:

You'd better watch out,
look up in the sky,
You'd better not doubt;
Better say your good bye.
Santa Claus is droning
Your home.

He's paying out bounties,
For kids he pays five,
He's razoring genitals
And burying alive.
Santa Claus is beating
the prone

He hears you in your cages,
Videotapes your screams and moans,
After sharing with Senate pages,
Then he'll freeze you all alone

So—you mustn't believe
In Justice tonight.
On Christmas Eve
She's lost more than her sight
The OLC will help with hiding
Your bones.

As Mary noted, "Those jokers at OLC. At least they enjoy their work". Indeed. With "wise men" like John Yoo, Jay Bybee and Steve Bradbury, what could go wrong?