

WINGNUT PASTOR'S KORAN-BURNING GETS UN STAFFERS KILLED

This is horrible.

Protesters angered by the burning of a Koran by a fringe American pastor in Florida mobbed offices of the United Nations in northern Afghanistan on Friday, killing ten foreign staff members and beheading two of the victims, according to an Afghan police spokesman. Five Afghans were also killed.

The attack began when hundreds of demonstrators, some of them armed, poured out of mosques after Friday Prayer and headed to the headquarters of the United Nations in the northern city of Mazar-i-Sharif. They disarmed the guards and overran the compound, according to Lal Mohammad Ahmadzai, spokesman for Gen. Daoud Daoud, the Afghan National Police commander for northern Afghanistan.

A spokesman for the United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan, Kieran Dwyer, said the attack had occurred during a demonstration. "We can confirm there have been casualties, including U.N. personnel, but the situation on the ground remains very confusing," he said.

The hate industry in this country seems to believe they can fear-monger against Muslims here with no repercussions elsewhere.

It turns out, the globe is not that small.