

ERIC HOLDER: TORTURE INQUIRIES, TED STEVENS PROSECUTORIAL MISCONDUCT INVESTIGATIONS ALMOST FINISHED

In response to two questions from Orrin Hatch, Eric Holder revealed that the John Durham investigation into torture and the Office of Public Responsibility investigation into the prosecutorial misconduct in the Ted Stevens case are both nearing their end.

While none of the Senators asked for Holder to make the results in the torture investigation public, Hatch, Pat Leahy, and DiFi all asked for the Stevens report to be made public.

Let me predict for them what that report will say: While problematic, the behavior of DOJ's own does not merit punishment. Love, David Margolis.
