

ONE DAY AFTER ROLLING OUT “COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW,” FEINSTEIN PROCEEDS WITH MARK- UP ANYWAY

Yesterday, Dianne Feinstein announced, “a total review of all intelligence programs ... so that members of the Senate Intelligence Committee are fully informed as to what is actually being carried out by the intelligence community.”

Today, her committee will nevertheless conduct a mark-up of her bill to not fix the spying targeted at Americans.

Umm, given that she just admitted she doesn't know everything the NSA has been doing – and that she hasn't been fully informed – don't you think the comprehensive review should precede the new legislation?
