

ABOUT THOSE BRENNAN LIES ABOUT WORKING WITH IRAN AND THOSE WHO COMMIT ATROCITIES

During the whole flap over Seymour Hersh's reporting questioning the Osama bin Laden raid, I kept pointing to Ron Wyden's comments to John Brennan about lies he told in March, probably at his Council on Foreign Relations speech.

I guessed that Brennan's likely lies had to do with whether we partner with anyone who commits atrocities and whether Brennan has worked directly with Iranian Republican Guard leader Qasem Soleimani. And after Hersh's report that we still have a dark site on Diego Garcia, I added Brennan's claim we outsource all our interrogation to partners.

Keep those potential lies as you read Moon of Alabama's guesses about why the Syrians announced this raid before the Americans did.
