

WELCOME TO THE NEW AND IMPROVED EMPTYWHEEL

Surprise!

When things started going haywire earlier this year, we decided to do a site redesign to take out some of the unstable code that makes the site more vulnerable to crashes and hacks. We thought we'd pretty things up at the same time.

We're still kicking on the tires a bit ourselves, and we'll surely find a few things we need to tweak.

But for now, feel free to test out the new comments (which have at least some of the features ya'll have been screaming for for some time).

Update: I was remiss in not thanking CurlyHost – a local, woman-owned business – for the clean new design. Thanks Andrea!