

DARRELL YOUNGERS, CHRISTOPHER WARNAGIRIS, AND JASON DOLAN: MARINES AT THE EAST DOOR

Among the many January 6 insurrectionists whose arrests became public yesterday were George Tenney, from Anderson, SC, and Darrell Youngers, who lives in Cleveland, TX. Tenney is involved with a right wing website, The PowerHouse Patriot. It's not clear what Youngers does for a living, but according to a witness who IDed him, he has been involved with leadership courses. Ostensibly, they were charged via the same epic 30-page arrest affidavit because they traveled through the Capitol together on the day of the insurrection. They appear to have met that day.

In the weeks leading up to the insurrection, Tenney tried to figure out how to join an armed militia group.

Even prior to the January 6 riot, TENNEY discussed "armed militia patriots" and stated that "we" may siege the U.S. Capitol Building. On December 14, 2020, TENNEY wrote to Person1, "Where and how do I get involved or a part of one of these patriot revolution groups? Like proud boys, or any of the other American Patriot militias??" Person-1 responded that Person-1 would "ask around."

By December 28, Tenney appeared to know that there was a plan to siege the Capitol.

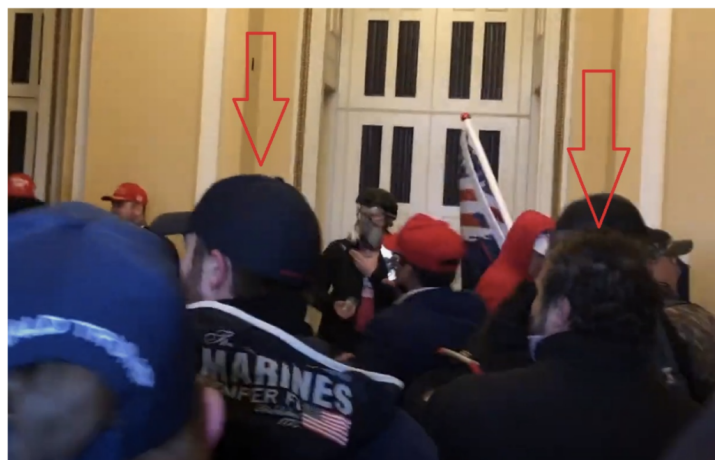

On December 27, 2020, TENNEY wrote, "I heard over 500k armed militia patriots will be in DC by the 4th. And will start early waiting for the rest of us on the 6th. They already predict over [a] million people will be in DC the 6th."

The next day, he wrote, "We need to talk about the trip to D.C...It's starting to look like we may siege the capital building and congress if the electoral votes don't go right....we are forming plans for every scenario." On December 29, TENNEY wrote a message that included the following: "I've been watching these pod cast things from this guy. He says Pence is a traitor and will betray the US on the 6th."

Even before they entered the Capitol, Tenney and Youngers were moving together.

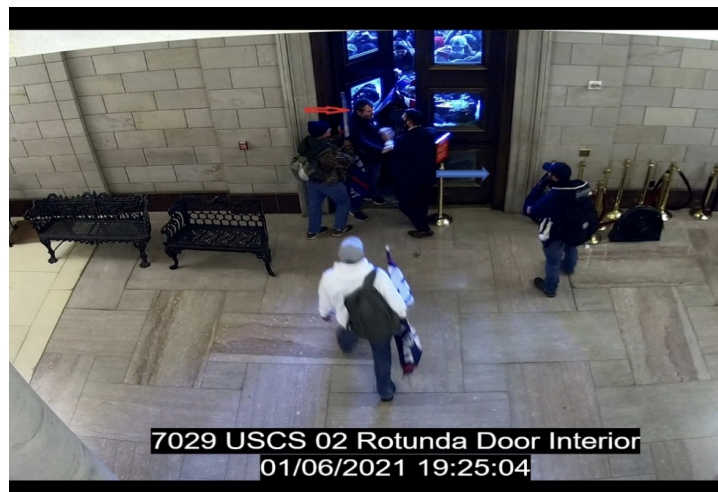

They entered the Senate Wing door at 2:19PM – the door first breached by former Marine Dominic Pezzola. The camera catches Youngers' Marines jacket shortly after the two enter.

They went from there through the Rotunda into the East Foyer, with Tenney in the lead. Which means he was the first to get to the East Door to open it, letting the assembled rioters outside in as Youngers looks on.

Youngers, who's involved in leadership training, lets Tenney do the hard work of wrestling with a cop and getting charged with civil disorder. They retreat for a bit, but then return to pushing cops again just as Marine Major Christopher Warnargiris is among the first to enter, as if he was just waiting for the door to open (I believe Youngers is standing to the right of the door).

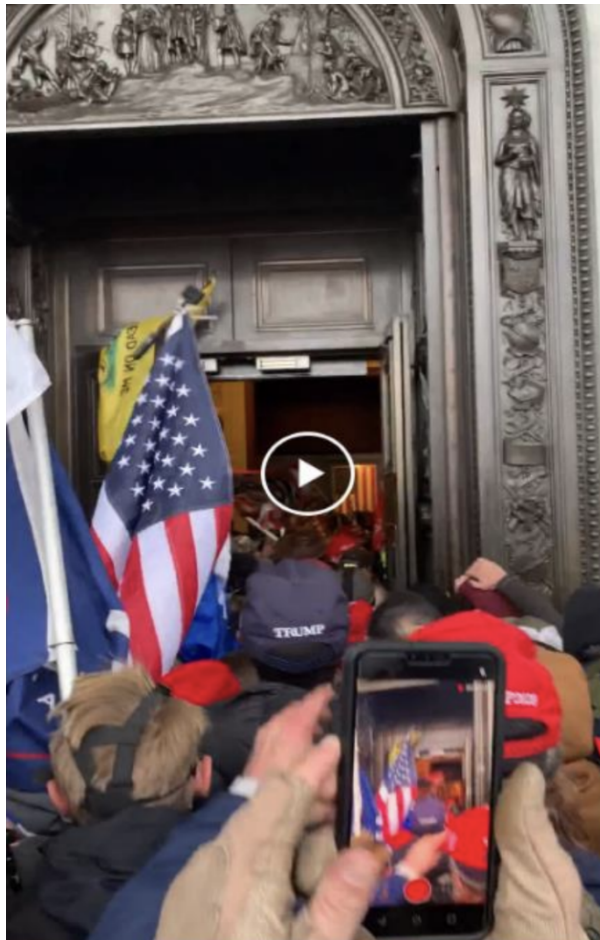

Here's Youngers and Warnargiris at that East door, standing within a few feet of each other, as both help to ensure rioters will succeed in keeping this door open.

Just outside that door, of course, is former Marine and Oath Keeper Jason Dolan, also standing at the top of the stairs as if he knew the door was going to open, waiting for a Stack of militia members to help force the door open.

This is believed to be a picture Kenneth Harrelson took of Dolan filming just after the doors opened.

At a time Dolan probably suspected he might be arrested, the government suspects, he went on Gateway Pundit to claim that he and everyone else couldn't have been trespassing, because the magnetic doors couldn't have opened unless someone unlocked it.

As part of this story, the anonymous source believed to be Dolan claimed that the Marine who opened the doors first went inside and then opened the doors from the inside.

Retired Marine: We're on the top level now – about 15 feet from the doors just before they opened up. People are yelling and screaming. Everyone's cheering, all kind of stuff. It's chaotic. But we're just kind of there. And then all of the sudden the doors open up from the inside. I have a picture taken about two seconds before the doors opened. And then I have a picture taken about six seconds later and the doors were open.

Jim Hoft: And they were not opened from the outside?

Retired Marine: They were opened from the inside. Now one of the stories I read recently was that some Marine, some Marine Major, went inside and managed to run around and open up the doors. And I think that was on your website, as well. But here's what I can tell you about magnetic locks. If a door is locked by a mag lock it cannot be opened from the outside or the inside unless the person controlling that door opens that door by turning off the magnetic lock which those doors according to the photos I took are equipped with. [my emphasis]

The story doesn't make sense if Dolan was talking about Warnargiris. But the government accuses Youngers, also a former Marine, of being one of the people who entered the West side only to go within minutes to the East side to open a second front.

That's a lot of Marines who seemed to know that door was going to open.
