

THAT BRATT-I-AM, THAT BRATT-I-AM, I DO NOT LIKE THAT BRATT-I-AM

Red Docs, Blue Docs . . .

In the far-away land of Mar-A-Lago sits a once-vaunted leader, now brought very low.
His voice, once ubiquitous, lordly, and loud
has become but a whimper, no longer so proud.
The cameras have vanished, the crowds have all shrunk,
as he scrambles for donors, this fallen-down
punk.

And then come his lawyers, with news of a guest,
A visit un-looked for, unwelcome, unblessed.

"That Bratt-I-Am, that Bratt-I-Am,
I do not like that Bratt-I-Am."

*"You must return those stolen docs.
You must return them, yes, every box."*

"I do not have a box of docs,
and they are mine, you lying fox."

But then they came and then they found docs aplenty, all around . . .

One doc, two docs
red docs, blue docs

Docs TOPSECRET/SCI

Docs with pictures from on high
Docs with covers, docs with stamps,
Docs in files marked "terror camps"
Docs from spies and docs from techs
Docs 'bout planes on navy decks
Docs on armies, docs on friends
Docs on missiles, docs on end!

"I do not like you, Bratt-I-Am!
I do not like your little scam.
You only fight 'cause I am so strong!
You only fight 'cause Biden is wrong!
Besides, I don't have the docs that you seek or, if I do, they're mine, free to keep!"

A pause, then that voice so quietly speaks pricking his bubble; his vanity leaks.

*"There's only one president, you see,
and you are not it, quite obviously.
You've filed lots of lawsuits and lost every one and Biden, not you, is the one who has won.*

*"The law is quite clear: these docs are ours.
You have no magic pixie dust powers.
You cannot claim them, nor take them home;
they belong to us, not you alone.
You must return those stolen docs.
You must return them, yes, every box.*

*"These classified docs are not like cheap porn
They're CONFIDENTIAL and SECRET, ORCON, and NOFORN.
They're stuff you can't look at outside of a SCIF.
There are but a few even granted a sniff.
They should be under watch, behind guarded
doors,
not left in a closet or stashed into drawers.
They must be sent back, each one of these docs
They must be returned, yes, every last box.*

*"We'll come to you, or you to us.
You can return them on a bus.
You can return them on a train.
You can return them on a plane.
You can return them at your house.
You can return them with a mouse.*

*You must return those stolen docs.
You must return them, yes, every box."*

*"But I want them, because they are mine!
and you cannot have them – don't cross that line!"*

*"Have you read this warrant, here?
Do you not see? Is it not clear?
The judge agrees – you have no choice.
You must comply, so please, no more noise.
You must return those stolen docs
You must return them, yes, every box."*

*"That Bratt-I-Am, that Bratt-I-Am,
I do not like that Bratt-I-Am!"*

*"Boxes of documents, boxes of pics,
Boxes of letters – be sure there're no tricks!
We'll carefully pack them and give you a list
(It will be redacted, but we'll give you the gist)
We'll guard them as well as the law says we must.
We'll guard them much better than you have, we trust.*

*"For crimes have been crimed, as we have deducted:
espionage, theft, and justice obstructed.
The proof, we believe, will emerge box by box from rooms where you've kept them without any locks.
The charges will follow, and names will be named and soon the guilty in court will be blamed.*

*"Justice is coming," says Bratt-I-Am,
and that once-vaunted leader can only say . . .
"Damn."*