

TRUMP'S STOLEN DOCUMENTS: NEWLY UNSEALED NUMBERS

DOJ has unsealed more of the original August 5, 2022 search warrant to search Mar-a-Lago. Here are some interesting numbers:

- At one point there were 85 to 95 boxes of documents in the storage room
- Walt Nauta was called "Witness 5" in the affidavit, meaning in addition to the enumerated lawyers and persons there are at least four other people described in the affidavit; now he's alleged co-conspirator 1
- DOJ's math on how many boxes Walt Nauta had moved in and out of the storage room was pretty close, estimating he had moved 15 to 30 boxes back into storage – per the indictment, the number was 30
- On first request, DOJ only obtained two months worth of surveillance footage showing what was being moved in and out of the anteroom to the storage room
- Evan Corcoran's search of boxes lasted 2.5 hours
- Trump may have waited three weeks after Jay Bratt's request on June 8 to secure the storage room to put a padlock on the door

One other detail of interest is that DOJ started tracking what was in a banker's box, and what had been moved into a plain cardboard box.
