Influencer Who Bought Trump a Rolex Has Lost Over $10M Since Tariffs Hit the Market: 'It's So Bad'

"It's bad, I'm not gonna lie to you"

"Damn! You over here like, damn, Kamala, come back to me!" Akademiks joked, speculating that Ross may regret his enthusiastic endorsement of Trump on the campaign trail, now that the president's economic policy has cost him at least $10 million.

In August 2024, Trump appeared on Ross's livestream, where the young influencer gifted Trump a $100,000+ custom Cybertruck, Rolex, and his endorsement. While he was visibly morose over the financial hit, he didn't have anything negative to say about Trump.

Nothing bad to say about the man who cost him eight figures – so far.

This influencer is among many who are why Harris-Walz made no inroads with white and Latino men. They feel a need to belong to a tribe and it's one which pulls up the tree house ladder to prevent women especially those of color from joining.

Harris warned them and they still can't fully acknowledge she warned them and they were wrong, let alone admit that really is a leopard sitting on their chests gnawing on their cheekbones.

I'd like to laugh but my investment portfolio is down by a lot and unlike 2008 there was no safe haven I could trust thanks to DOGE Muskrats mucking about in Treasury.

At some point we'll have to rescue these guys like Bluebeard's last wife because we'll be rescuing ourselves at the same time.

And now for something critically important – an urgent call to action.

Go to Indivisible.org and read the explanation about H.R. 22, a bill which will disenfranchise a massive number of voters. This is one of the methods by which Trump will attempt to hang onto the White House as well as a stranglehold over executive functions. If voters are deprived of their right to vote, they won't be able to remove bad representation at mid-terms let alone the general election.

While all eligible voters will be affected, those most likely to be disenfranchised are married and divorced women because they will be assessed a poll tax in the form of additional identity documentation in the form of a marriage license. Trans persons and adoptees will also be affected negatively.

The bill also has a hole in it, and I'll tell you right now it affects me, my father, and my sibling as an example. The word "territory" never appears in this bill, and my father is an American citizen born in what was then a territory, now a state.

This legislation needs to die and the 107 Republican House members who co-sponsored it need to hear from their constituents that they are failing their oaths of office to uphold the Constitution.

Don't let this slip by you, take action. We can't trust the Supreme Court to do the right thing and protect Americans' right to vote.
