

ANTHRAX: NOBODY BUYS THE FBI STORY

It's not just Pat Leahy who thinks the FBI story about anthrax is bogus—it's pretty much everyone who has examined the case.

KILL GAME: THE PATH OF DESTRUCTION FROM THE AMERITHRAX INVESTIGATION

"Have you no sense of decency, ... at long last? Have you left no sense of decency?" These prophetic words were spoken on June 9, 1954 by Joseph Welch, attorney for the United States Army, at the nadir of the shameful McCarthy hearings. George Bush, being a failure as a student of history, and Dick Cheney simply disdainful of it, our government has deigned to repeat history by persecuting, oppressing and causing the death of people, many of them innocents, common citizens and bystanders, all over the globe. Was Bruce Ivins yet another one of them?
