

THE DNC EMAIL RULING

The Democratic National Committee has been suing the DOJ in DC District Court to obtain some 68 pages of emails relating to the US Attorney purge. There are two issues to be contemplated here. The first is the relative propriety of Huvelle's decision, and foundation therefor, in the DNC case, and the second is what implications it may have for the greater mass of contentious email issues that are percolating in our midst.