

OKAY ALREADY, HERE'S YOUR DAMN TRASH TALK THREAD

Everyone's spoiling my Bhutto thread with their damn trash talk, so I'll put up this one, a whole day early. Jeebus, you put the Pats on TV and people get all uppity. (Incidentally, this Pats-on-three-channels thing started after John Kerry complained; where was all this gumption in 2004 when we needed it???)

That said, as much as I'm hoping the Pats win (and recognizing that, even without Shockey, the Giants have a

EMPTYWHEEL'S FAMOUS FOOTBALL TRASH TALK THREAD - HOLIDAY EDITION

The weekend is upon us, which means it is time for some trashing and burning (Note: not for you folks working for Cheney at his "ceremonial" office, you have trashed and burned quite enough this week). Here is the lineup for this week. Who and what do you have on the burner? Trash it up!

EMPTYWHEEL'S FAMOUS

FOOTBALL TRASH TALK THREAD

Hello there sports fans and fanettes. You have probably been wondering what happens to the New England Patriots if Tom Brady is injured or out. The second string is a pretty severe step down; for those scoring at home, or even if you are alone (shameless rip off from Keith Olbermann), Brady's backup is Matt Cassel, a perfectly fine chap, and by all accounts a good quarterback.

FOOTBALL TRASH TALK THREAD

Will the Pats get beaten by the Steelers today? can the Lions surprise the 'Boys? And will Baltimore play as hard against the Colts as they did against the Pats?