

WIFI TURKEY

As I've mentioned a couple of times, I'm about to go to Kentucky for a week—and will have no WiFi (get it—WiFi Turkey?). Long time readers know that every time I go off-grid, something crazy happens—the last time, Alberto Gonzales resigned.

My predictions are one or more of the following will happen: At 1:20 today, a letter from Henry Waxman to Condi Rice, inquiring what State is going to do about three people
