

ON PIERRE BOURDIEU PART 2: SYSTEMS OF DOMINATION

Societies are organized to reproduce existing systems of dominance. This benefits the elites at the expense of the rest of us.

ON PIERRE BOURDIEU PART 1: VOCABULARY

A new vocabulary for a new book.

CULTURE AND NEOLIBERALISM

No thought leaders. No David Brooks.

THE SLOW DEATH OF NEOLIBERALISM: PART 3 THE PHILLIPS CURVE AND CRITICAL THEORY

The Phillips Curve isn't working, but it's still being used. The concept is gone. Only the formula is left.

THE SLOW DEATH OF NEOLIBERALISM: PART 2

Neoliberal economics is a failure, and people are gradually coming to grips with that fact.

THE SLOW DEATH OF NEOLIBERALISM: PART 1

At least I hope that's what's happening.

THE DIALECTICAL IMAGINATION BY MARTIN JAY: CONCLUSION ON LABOR DAY

Freedom is not achieved through the formal logic, the rationality, of capitalism.

THE DIALECTICAL IMAGINATION BY

MARTIN JAY: THE ENLIGHTENMENT

The project of human domination of nature has limits.

THE DIALECTICAL IMAGINATION BY MARTIN JAY: ECONOMICS IN CRITICAL THEORY

The profit motive is a variant of the power motive.

THE DIALECTICAL IMAGINATION BY MARTIN JAY: PSYCHOANALYSIS IN CRITICAL THEORY

Critical Theory says that we can be better humans. Not everyone thinks that's a good thing.