

BERYL HOWELL TAKES AN EARLY SWIPE AT THE TRUMP MADE-ME-DO-IT DEFENSE AND OTHER DETENTION STANDARDS

In an opinion ordering pre-trial detention for Proud Boy William Chrestman, Chief DC Judge Beryl Howell lays out a framework that the DC District judges might use to establish some consistency in the way they review detention decisions – including the claim that Trump invited defendants to break the law.