HOW ONE CCTV CAMERA WAS RENDERED INEFFECTIVE OVER TWO HOURS ON JANUARY 6

A screen cap in the arrest affidavit for Josiah Kenyon makes clear why the Capitol Police have resisted widespread release of surveillance video from January 6. Over the course of two hours, liquids thrown inside the Tunnel and the change of light with the setting sun made the video almost useless for capturing Kenyon’s alleged crime on video.