

SYRIANA

If there's one thing I've learned over the course of this Administration, it's that if Dana Perino one day announces that the sky is blue, I will be forced to assume that an alien invasion has commenced with the total ionization of Earth's upper atmosphere. With that in mind, there's an awful lot of cognitive dissonance for me in analyzing the evidence on the purported Syrian nuclear reactor site.