

THE KREMLINOLOGY (HA!) OF THE SESSIONS' HUDDLE

I don't pretend to know what happened in that huddle or in the half day afterwards when Jeff Sessions uncontestedly retained his authority as Attorney General. But I'm not really bugged that Rod Rosenstein is doing what he needs to do to remain the person who, if Whitaker's appointment were illegal, would serve as the Acting Attorney General.