

“THAT’S RUDY.” TRUMP PROVES, YET AGAIN, THAT HE WOULD JUST IGNORE A DEFENSIVE BRIEFING

For much of the last three years, Trump has claimed that, if only he had been given a defensive briefing about Russia’s efforts to help his campaign (rather than launch investigations into four men who all turned out to be selling Trump out to one or another foreign country), he would have done something about it. By ignoring the warnings he got about Rudy being targeted for disinformation, Trump just made it clear that was not true.