Memorandum for the Record

From: Don Stone/Vicki Divoll
Subject: Whistleblower/Former CIA Employee Jeffery Sterling
Date: April 25, 2003

On March 5, 2003, Don Stone and Vicki Divoll met with former CIA employee Jeffery Sterling. This meeting was arranged by Mr. Sterling's attorney, Mark Zaid, who had contacted Ms. Divoll several weeks earlier. Ms. Divoll and Mr. Stone coordinated the attorney's request for a meeting with the Committee's staff directors. Based on Mr. Sterling's status as a former CIA employee, it was decided that Ms. Divoll and Mr. Stone would meet with the attorney and his client to allow Mr. Sterling to voice his concerns about an operation he was involved in before his CIA employment was terminated in January 2002.

It was known prior to the meeting that Mr. Zaid was representing Mr. Sterling in a suit against the CIA regarding the termination of his employment. Committee staff made it clear to the attorney and Mr. Sterling that we did not wish to discuss the ongoing litigation against the CIA. Instead we were prepared to listen to his concerns about CIA operational activities. Mr. Zaid did not have the proper clearances for the CIA operation in question, so after introductory comments he was asked to wait outside the Committee's cleared spaces.

Mr. Sterling joined the CIA in 1993, and had at least two overseas assignments. In 1999 he was assigned to CIA's New York office where he was involved in a sensitive operation. The operation entailed a CIA asset providing Iran with faulty plans for a Russian based nuclear fire set. Although the plans had been modified by the National Laboratories, Mr. Sterling feared they were insufficiently flawed to prevent a Russian scientist hired by the Iranians from identifying and correcting the mistakes. His concern was based on the fact that the CIA asset recognized the plan's flaws almost immediately after being shown them. He would have preferred to string the operation out by giving pieces of the plan out over time. In the end, the entire plan was turned over to the Iranians without any means for further follow up. However, CIA supposedly deemed the operation a success. Mr. Sterling fears the CIA gave the Iranians too much information that they can either use themselves or sell to someone else.

When asked why he was bringing this information to the Committee over two years after the operation took place, Mr. Sterling stated that current events prompted him to provide this information based on his above noted concerns. He could provide no evidence the CIA and National Laboratories did not take adequate precautions. He also does not have a technical background. Mr. Sterling stated that he had not taken his concerns to the CIA Inspector General because he had not had a pleasant experience with that office while attempting to resolve his employment difficulties. After the meeting, Mr. Sterling was thanked for the information and escorted out to his attorney. He was offered no information on whether, or in what manner, the Committee would proceed, but seemed satisfied with the visit.

The operation described by Mr. Sterling seemed familiar to one that had been briefed in the past. To follow up, it was decided that at the next opportunity, the account monitor would ask a question on the degree to which such plans are modified and the approach to making sure there is no benefit to the target or a buyer of the plans. Such a briefing is to take place in the near future.

Since the meeting with Mr. Sterling and his attorney, there has been minimal contact with staff. Mr. Sterling has e-mailed the Committee highlighting press articles involving Iranian nuclear interests. He has also left a phone message that was not returned. His attorney has e-mailed the Committee with information relating to other intelligence related cases he is pursuing. There was no response to this correspondence. The only other issue of note is that James Risen of the New York Times attempted to contact Mr. Stone directly several weeks ago. He was not asked the topic of inquiry and was told that any staff communication must come from the staff directors.

The only follow-up we had considered was to ask a question regarding his complaint/assertion to the Counterproliferation briefers at the next quarterly briefing. I have not yet been briefed by that program, but will schedule it after mark-up.

Since his claims involve extremely technical, specialized nuclear designs, and the firesets were altered by our best nuclear scientists at , I don't know of any way to further investigate the validity of his complaint.
